“The opportunity to engage with real life issues has been a life learning experience for me. Guided by mentors and trade policy experts, and collaborating with driven peers, my personal experience was indeed enriching.”

Parishiti Kaushik, Student, GNLU

“The nature of the issues presented to us by the beneficiary required us to understand many of the nuances of international trade law, something which any academic course of the subject would not have been able to provide.”

“The rigorous exercise of analysing the literature and case studies, and thereafter drafting in a manner to cater to the needs of the industry/beneficiary expanded my horizons in the field of international trade law. ABOUT TRADELAB

TradeLab, a Geneva-based initiative, unites students, academics, and legal practitioners to empower stakeholders including SMEs with research benefits on issues relating to international trade and investment law through pro-bono clinics.

ABOUT CTIL

Centre for Trade and Investment Law (CTIL) was established in 2017 by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India, to empower legal capacity within the government on international trade and investment law and in India and provide it with sound and rigorous analysis of legal issues pertaining to international economic law. CTIL has established itself as a thought leader in the domain of international trade and investment law, and economic integration by publishing books, articles and papers, and through knowledge disseminated programs.

OUR GOAL

The clinics focuses on enhancing students' legal understanding of international economic law, and their ability to apply the knowledge to practical problems. Through experimental learning the students cultivate the skills to be a thorough professional.
